

THE ELMIRA GAZETTE AND FREE PRESS
JULY 22, 1893

INANITION, THE CAUSE.

Why the Campbell Herald Died an Infant
Recently—The Announcement

The subscribers of the Campbell Herald, published at Campbell, N. Y., have received morning postal cards, reading as follows:

"IN MEMORIAL."

"Died July 14, at Campbell, N. Y., The Campbell Herald, aged 8 weeks. The Herald has been running at the point of starvation for several weeks and has now suspended publication, owing to insufficient support from the people of Campbell. We regret that we are not able to continue, and desire to thank all who have aided us in trying to establish a home newspaper.
All subscriptions to the Herald will be transferred to the American Farmer and Farm News, published at Springfield, Ohio.
"Publisher of Herald."

THE EVENING LEADER, CORNING, N. Y.,
SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1918

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

Interesting Happening Of Years Ago Taken From The Files Of The Evening Leader.

Friday, May 25, 1893

Once An Editor

We have received a copy of the first issue of the Campbell Herald which is edited by R. C. Turnbull. The paper, while small, makes up this deficiency by its very interesting local matter. We trust it will grow and prosper.

ELMIRA DAILY GAZETTE AND FREE PRESS,
MAY 22, 1893

From Bath.

Bath, N. Y., May 22.—Campbell town is to have a newspaper. It is to be called the Campbell Herald, and is to be edited by Robert S. Turnbull. Its first issue will appear on Friday, May 20th. In politics it is to be independent.

Thursday, August 3, 1893.

The Campbell Herald, a newspaper infant in Steuben county, has suspended publication after eight issues.

WATKINS DEMOCRAT